

During these changing times, can you raise awareness and vital donations by undertaking a sponsored charity challenge?

You may want to remember a loved one, get active to complete a personal fitness goal, or simply have fun with the family. Whatever your motivation, with your help we can continue working for better mental health across our city during the pandemic.

We hope these ideas help you get started, but please get in touch so we can support you each step of the way...

Personal Virtual Challenge

30 day fitness challenge: select a new personal fitness challenge to boost your positivity for the New Year. From cycling, swimming, running, dancing or boxing - choose your activity and commit to 30 days. You could even ask friends, family or work colleagues to join you as a team, helping to gather online donations from across your wider social circle once you have completed the challenge.

Couch to 5k: undertake the classic “couch to 5k programme” outside in the safety of your local neighbourhood. For each day or mile you run, ask friends, family and work colleagues to donate to your online charity page, adding their messages of support to help you keep going!

30 day morning yoga challenge: focus 15 minutes of your morning and give yourself an extra boost through the day. Find your favourite yoga teacher online (such as “Yoga with Kassandra”) and view free pre-recorded videos, from beginners to advanced - such an easy way to set your intention and stay motivated! Donate £3 for every day that you complete your challenge, or ask loved ones to sponsor you online throughout the month.

Virtual cycle to Paris...or anywhere! Do you have a static bike at home? Go “next level” and pledge to cycle 750km from Manchester to Paris in aid of Manchester Mind, or see just how far across the world you can get. Set up an online donation charity page and post regular thematic updates with photos, showing that “I’ve arrived at...” so that your supporters are with you on the journey, donating to your online page at each stage or when you arrive at your final destination.
